

CASE STUDY

Infrastructure for a new holiday village

Location: Filey

Contract Value: £2,000,000 to date

Contract period: Ongoing

The former Butlins holiday camp near Filey, after standing empty for many years, is now being developed. In this exciting renaissance, the new holiday village development will include 500 houses, a hotel, health club and pub restaurant.

We are engaged in infrastructure works comprising drainage, sewage treatment plant, 278 works, roadways and footpaths, house foundations, together with soft and hard landscaping.

Our commitment to the developer is not only to provide a quality product to tight timescales, but also to work closely with the design teams to provide a buildable design and minimise costs.

Our original contract was for a £100,000 sheet piled slipway and we have since negotiated a further £2,000,000 of work. Building on our ongoing relationship we fully expect that over the next two years we will negotiate a further £2,000,000.
